

Grzybowski Square

“Grzybowski Square lay on the border of two worlds: Jewish and Christian” – says Hanna Dzielińska (Hanka Warszawianka), journalist and tourist guide in the fifth part of ‘Remnants of the Warsaw Ghetto’. The episode devoted to Grzybowski Square raises the issues of Catholic Jews attending the so-called small ghetto church of All Saints and brings two prominent figures associated with him– Dr. Ludwik Hirszfeld and priest Marcel Godlewski.

Today there is an open-air exhibition of WGM “Every third of us”, using unique photographs of the Warsaw Ghetto from archives from all over the world, which can be viewed until the end of 2021 –

‘Remnants of the Warsaw Ghetto’ is a film series of 16 short guided tours presenting the history of places and people associated with them. The following places will be presented: Umschlagplatz; Anielewicz Mound; Szmul Zygielbojm Monument; Monument of the Ghetto Heroes; Grzybowski Square; Mariańska Street and the Nursing School; Nożyk Synagogue; Great Synagogue at Tłomackie Street; Nalewki Street; Femina Cinema Theater; Courts at Leszno Street; Chłodna Street; Waliców Street; The Jewish Cemetery at Okopowa Street, and the Bersohn and Bauman Hospital – the place where the permanent exhibition of the Warsaw Ghetto Museum will be created.

The series presentation accompanies the commemoration of 80th anniversary of the Warsaw Ghetto borders closing, organized by the Warsaw Ghetto Museum in cooperation with the Ministry of Culture and National Heritage and TSKŻ – the Social and Cultural Society of Jews in Poland. The main events took place on November 16, 2020.
